

August is a Good Time for Killing: And Other Blood-Curdling Stories of Murder in the East (Great American murder mysteries)

The cosmopolitan East Coast - the seat of Americas culture and creativity - also boasts a colorful legacy of crime, especially when crafted by the hands of the countrys experts in mystery fiction. In this volume are stories by some of the most talented authors in the field. These exceptional tales of crime are all set along the eastern coast, where murder might be subtle or perplexing - but is always entertaining and always true to the quirks of the region. Contributors include: Charles Ardai, Lawrence Block, Richard T. Chizmar, Max Allan Collins, Barbara DAmato, Joyce Harrington, Edward D. Hoch, John Lutz, Rex Miller, Howard Pyle, Bruce Holland Rogers, and Carolyn Wheat.
